The icon of the Trinity, as painted by Rublev, remains one of the best of all the Russian icons. This icon takes as its subject the mysterious story where Abraham receives three visitors as he camps by the oak of Mamre. He serves them a meal. As the conversation progresses he seems to be talking straight to God. On one level this picture shows three angels seated under Abraham's tree, but on another it is a visual expression of what the Trinity means and how we approach God. Reading the picture from left to right, we see the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

The Colors

Rublev gives each person of the Trinity different clothing. On the right, the Holy Spirit has a garment of the clear blue of the sky, wrapped over with a robe of a fragile green. So the Spirit of creation moves in sky and water, breathes in heaven and earth.

The Son has the deepest colors; a thick heavy garment of the reddish-brown of earth and a cloak of the blue of heaven. In his person he unites heaven and earth and over his right shoulder there is a band of gold shot through the earthly garment, as his divinity suffuses and transfigures his earthly being.

The Father seems to wear all the colors in a kind of fabric that changes with the light, that seems transparent. No one has seen the Father, but the vision of him fills the universe. The Father looks forward, raising his hand in blessing to the Son. ‘This is my Son, listen to him…’ The hand of the Son points on, around the circle, to the Spirit. In this simple array we see the movement of life towards us, The Father sends the Son, the Son sends the Spirit. Over the head of the Father is the house of the Father. It is the goal of our journey. It is the beginning and end of our lives. Its door is always open for the traveler. It has a tower, and its window is always open so that the Father can scan the roads for a glimpse of a returning prodigal.

Staffs for the journey

Each person holds a staff because we are on a journey and these three persons enter into our journey.

The Table

The table or altar lies at the center of the picture. It is at once the place of Abraham's hospitality to the angels, and God's place of hospitality to us. We are invited to join the group at the table and receive the heart of their being for ourselves. We are invited to complete the circle. Below the altar a rectangle marks the holy place where the relics of the martyrs were kept in a church. It invites us to come into the depth and intimacy of all that is represented here. Come, live in the shadow of the Son of God. Come, journey to the home, prepared for you in the house of your Father. The table is spread, the door is open.
‘In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit.’ Those words are so much a part of our liturgy, personal prayer and faith life that we may cease to hear them in any meaningful way.

As a child, my image of GOD THE FATHER was Charlton Heston in the ‘Ten Commandments’ - distantly poised on a mountain-top, ready to etch some profound words of wisdom in stone tablets. GOD THE SON was Jesus hanging on a cross. GOD THE HOLY SPIRIT looked a lot like the friendly ghost Casper with a halo, flitting about, trying to keep us all in line. Comfortable, familiar, understandable images, but not all that helpful in equipping one for a journey of faith. Our childhood images need some serious revamping.

Growing up and learning more about the complexity of the world and the universe I found more of the GOD AS CREATOR: the infinite, uncreated Father who brought all worlds into being. Then to discover THE PERSON OF JESUS OF NAZARETH. I recall how moved I was by the movie of that name and how I discovered a God who wants to redeem humanity. It was then around Confirmation Year that we discovered the HOLY SPIRIT. ‘I have much more to tell you,’ Jesus said, ‘when the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you to all truth’ That would be the image of the Holy Spirit that has supplanted Casper - God’s power working in us to enable us to be all that God would have us be.

Childhood imagery is inadequate to describe our adult experiences of God who created us, the God who redeemed us, the same God who inspires us to seek, to journey in faith. In the end, the idea, the concept, the doctrine of the Trinity is about relationship.

Imagine a world where everyone put God first and loved their neighbors as themselves. Sounds like the ‘as it is in heaven’ part we pray for every time we pray the Lord's Prayer. Sounds like the Kingdom. And it sounds far away from the world in which we live.

In a culture dominated by outrage, how do we as Christians offer a different way, find a higher ground, model the kind of relationship the Trinity calls us to? More specifically, how do we do it here at St. Barnabas, Bellmore?

Check out the quotes from the Eight Graders’ letters published in the bulletin. They show how to do it through seeking and serving Christ in another.

As we celebrate the Trinity this Sunday, I pray that we may all be aware of the power of God working in the world; particularly in and through the people of St. Barnabas. This IS a place where lives are changed, where, nourished by word and sacraments, we go out to be the Church in the world.

A place where the concept of the Trinity is no mere intellectual exercise but truly a way of expressing our experience of God.

At the end of Mass the priest says ‘Go in peace, glorifying the Lord by your life.’ Send us out, O God, confident and joyful. Send us out, O God, Creator of all worlds, Redeemer of all souls Inspiration of all our lives.

Welcome
The Parish of St. Barnabas is delighted to welcome seminarian Michael E. Lombardi who will live with us in the rectory this Summer.

Michael was born and raised in Syracuse, New York. He earned a B.A. from Syracuse University and then went on to pursue a degree in Architecture from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. In 1997, he moved to Seattle Washington where he worked professionally in architecture for over 15 years. During his time in Seattle, he discerned a calling to the priesthood. Michael is a fourth degree Knight of Columbus and has been involved in Pro-life work both through Legion of Mary and 40 Days for Life.

In 2012, he returned back east to Long Island, New York where he made the decision to enter the seminary in 2015 and now represents the Diocese of Rockville Centre. He just completed his first year of studies at Pope St. John XXIII National Seminary in Weston, Massachusetts.

“Discovering the real presence of Jesus in the Eucharist was a defining moment in my reversion back to the church. The knowledge that Jesus is truly present body, blood, soul and divinity completely changed my understanding and experience towards how I live out my faith. Attending Mass was no longer about going “somewhere” or being someplace. Rather, it is about going to see…. SOMEONE!

May your time here give you lots of encouragement as you answer the call to priesthood.

Anointing of the Sick
The Sacrament of the Sick will be celebrated on Saturday, May 28th following the 8:00 AM Mass. The anointing of the sick is a sacrament that strengthens those who are ill, facing surgery, those who are disabled and those in special need of God’s healing touch due to chronic physical difficulties. Those wishing to receive the sacrament should sit in the front rows of the church.

On Monday May 23rd we will celebrate the Sacrament of Confirmation. Last week we published some quotes from the letters presented by the candidates showing how they live the life of a disciple of Jesus. Here are some more of their reflections. Reading them confirms our faith in our amazing Eighth Graders.

In preparation for the Sacrament they were asked to give service by participating in service work. This service was to be performed freely and willingly. No hours are tracked. It is meant to represent the candidates’ intentions of becoming full members of this servant community, the Church, and dedicated followers of Christ.

- “I want to do my best to make the world a better place. I want to be confirmed because I like being a member of the Church.”
- “I did a 5k in which I used my athleticism to run for medical research. I used my intelligence to tutor my friend in math. Lastly, I use my compassion to babysit a child when their parents have to run errands.”
- “I have been going to Bible camp as a student and now for the past two years volunteering.”
- “I also attend Mass every week and my family makes sure that I participate in all the Sacraments.”
- “God has blessed me with certain gifts such as kindness, honesty, and compassion which I demonstrated through my service projects and I intend to continue to use those gifts especially helping out with my grandparents and to help people less fortunate than myself. I learned to never pray for selfish things, to ask God for strength when I need it, and to watch over those who need guidance in their life.”
- “I think that going to church, praying, helping someone in need, and learning all that I can about our faith is very important in the process of becoming a confirmed catholic. I want to carry God and our faith with me throughout my entire life, not just now.”
- “Prayer and going to church regularly are very important to being a confirmed Catholic because it shows how you are going out of your way to strengthen your relationship with God. I am looking forward to being responsible for my own faith and sharing it with others. The Holy Spirit is given to all that are in the Catholic Church and will help towards the path God wants me to follow.”
- “During my studies I have learned that Confirmation is not the end of my faith journey but only the beginning! I have worked on several different charity events over the past years with my family. This charity donated all the money to help premature babies and fund research to stop prematurity.”
- “I also believe that I must attend Mass on Sunday, pray, and continue serving others as part of being a confirmed Catholic.”
- “I feel the grace from Confirmation and the Holy Spirit will give me the strength to go out into the world and do good deeds and be good examples.”
- “Over the past two years, I have tried to give back to others by tutoring my peers in math, volunteering with younger children at basketball CYO clinics and assisting my younger sister’s soccer coach.”
- “I was able to come together as a neighborhood and help a friend who lost her mother in a tragedy.”
- “It’s almost like we get to start over after going to Mass.”
“I am requesting Confirmation today so I can form a stronger bond with God and so I will have the power of the Holy Spirit when I step into the ruthless real world in 4 years time.”

“This next step is very important for me to claim my religious beliefs in front of my family.”

“The Holy Spirit is very important in my life and to understand what love is.”

“I have volunteered on several occasions with many fundraising programs like Ties for Ties, Walking for Breast Cancer etc.”

“For my service project I went to the Bristol Nursing Home and spent some time with the people living there. This inspired me that going to church does have a meaning and it is worth something to many people in this world.”

“I pray often to God and thank him for all that I have and also for the strength to get through tough days. Over the last couple of years I have done community service including St. Barnabas’ Vacation Bible Camp and babysitting without taking money.”

“Confirmation is not the end of your Catholic journey, it is only the beginning.”

“I give my clothing and coats to the needy every year and I know they will be warm and will be wearing good clothing.”

“I believe that praying, going to Church and Christian service is part of being a confirmed Catholic and I know that God will see all of this and will welcome me into Heaven.”

“I believe that as I make my Confirmation the Holy Spirit will be passed on to me as I continue my journey in my faith.”

“My family life includes weekly mass, usually on Saturday nights and prayers before meals.”

“The Holy Spirit is the most important thing in my life, it helps me to understand what love is.”

“If I had not reached these I wouldn’t feel worthy of being a Catholic.”

With Joyful Blessings on your Confirmation Day

This Monday is Confirmation here at St. Barnabas!

Last Sunday we saw many beautiful messages about what Confirmation means to our students being Confirmed. What does Confirmation mean to you? Some of you were Confirmed within the past few years. Has it made a difference in your life? Maybe you haven’t given it much of a thought since that day. Whether you attend public school or Catholic school, living our faith means more than completing sacraments of initiation. For those of you being Confirmed this year - where do you go from here? Do you think of Confirmation being an end of something? For some it may be the end to formal faith formation classes. It’s never an end to learning and growing in faith. Do you have plans to stay connected to your faith in high school? There are a bunch of ways to do this. Get involved in your parish! I would love to see you guys try out Youth Ministry! Youth Ministry is a place where you can grow in your faith with other teens while having fun. Stay connected by attending Mass each week! There is no other place you can go to pray as a community and receive Jesus in the sacrament of the Eucharist. We need this each week to strengthen us. High School will have challenges - why not be as strong as possible?

Lastly - pray! Never stop praying. Live your lives as a prayer by the way you treat people and live your life. Remember to keep your relationship to God strong by praying each day! Congratulations and God Bless all those being Confirmed!
